Princeton Borough and Plainsboro Fight Huge Tax Resulting from New School Aid Bill

Princeton Borough and Plainsboro officials spent a frustrating afternoon in the corridors of the State House in Trenton Monday in a vain attempt to get the "thorough-and-efficient" school aid bill amended before passage. The two communities each face a staggering $400,000 increase in taxes as a result of the measure.

Their efforts failed---although both communities were told that an attempt would be made later this fall to relieve their burden---and "t. and e." passed the Assembly by 42-32. It has already passed the Senate. Governor Brendan T. Byrne is expected to sign it shortly.

The bill is the New Jersey Legislature's way of complying with the state Supreme Court ruling that the state must find a new way to finance public school education. Reliance on local property taxes to pay for education, said the court, results in the kind of inequality that prevents many school children --- chiefly in poor cities --- from receiving the "thorough and efficient" education the New Jersey constitution says every child is entitled to. The phrase itself comes from the constitution.

Princeton Borough and Plainsboro are in deep trouble because the new bill states that costs in regional school districts are to be shared by constituent municipalities on an equalized valuation formula. At present, in the Princeton Regional School system, the Borough and Township share operating costs on a per-pupil basis. The same is true with Plainsboro and West Windsor.

The Borough has about 29 percent of the children in Princeton's schools. Plainsboro has about 11 percent of the pupils in that district.

But if the Borough has to pay its share of school costs on the basis of its rateables, its share will jump by about $450,000 a year --- a 9.8 percent increase.

In Plainsboro, the school tax will take a quantum leap of 77 percent, officials there say. Plainsboro, with a population of 3,000, doesn't have any local-purpose taxes, relying on various franchise revenues. In dollars, the Plainsboro tax increase would be about the same as Princeton Borough's --- approximately $450,000.

"It's a terrible thing to ask these communities --- there are 40 besides the Borough and Plainsboro --- to take on a burden like that without even testing it in the courts," Mayor Cawley said Monday.

The Borough is relying on an opinion from Princeton lawyer and municipal tax expert William Miller. He believes that the per-pupil arrangement for sharing costs is constitutional. There is no reason, he says, for believing that children are denied a "thorough and efficient" education just because costs in a regional district are shared on the per pupil system. Mayor Cawley sent to every Assembly member and key state Senators a copy of Mr. Miller's

Bids for New Community Park Recreation Area Top Available Funds by More Than $100,000

"Let the record show we are stunned," said Township Mayor Jay Bleiman, stunned, "and we hope our consultants equally so."

The mayor was looking at the picnic that was spoiled when five bids for construction of the park-picnic area across State Road from Community Park, came in at around $100,000 more than the appropriation.

The Township had appropriated $330,000 for this Phase I development of the north side of Community Park, across State Road. The Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) promised $162,500. Of the $330,000 figure, $300,000 had been earmarked for actual construction work, so at Monday night's Committee meeting when Administrator Joseph R. Nini began reading off bids of $409,855 (the lowest) all the way up to $536,387, it was a blow.

Landscape consultants Zion and Breen are scheduled to bury their red faces in the bids, analyze what they find, and make a report.

Committee set Monday, October 6, as the date for hearing the two appeals filed by Township residents against the Princeton Regional Planning Board's approval of site plans for the Vedlin public housing project on Mt. Lucas Road. The entire meeting will be devoted to those appeals.

Each appellant, Committee decided, will be given a maximum of 45 minutes for the initial presentation. Respondents will also be given 45 minutes. Members of the audience will be given two or three minutes each. A court stenographer will record the hearing.

"We want an advance statement from these making the appeal to constrain the flow of argument and allow us to set time limits," Mayor Bleiman said. One appellant, Dwight O. North, has already set forth the particulars of his complaint. The others - 29 residents of the area - have been asked, through Col. James Green, to provide a similar set of detailed reasons.

Loop Bus to Dec. 31. The Loop Bus system got another extension of life as Committee, 4-1, renewed the contract with Suburban Transit for another three months - to December 31.

Doughtily voting "no" as he has before, Committeeman William Sutphin again questioned whether fixed-route buses are the way to reach people who are, in his words, "transportation poor."

He gave an enthusiastic account of a dial-a-ride system in Traverse City, Michigan, a town whose population is comparable to Princeton's, quoting a ridership figure of 6,000 a month. The system was subsidized by the state for its first year, Mr. Sutphin said.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD: Joseph R. Nini, Princeton-born and raised, is celebrating his 25th anniversary as Princeton Township Administrator. Mayor Jay Bleiman, commenting and commemorating at Township Committee's Monday night meeting, said waggishly that Mr. Nini won't get a gold watch until he's worked hard another 25 years. The Administrator just grinned. He already has a watch.

Voters will eventually have to decide, perhaps by referendum, Mr. Sutphin suggested, how they want to travel this route.

"We Point with Pride."

Elizabeth Hutter, Mr. Sutphin's colleague and the transportation chairman for Committee, acknowledged that Loop Buses are still experimental, but pointed with pride to last week's 674 riders. Below June, when the buses stopped for the summer, but higher than at the start, she said.

Mayor Bleiman suggested that riders learn how to "ride" the buses, using first the Loop Bus, then a Suburban New York Express bus, and so on.

Responding to Mrs. Sarah Peck of Lawrence Apartments, who pleaded with Committee to restore bus service to Lawrence, Mrs. Hutter promised Committee would work on the problem in executive session. The solution was reached that night, and Lawrence is now back on the line.

In considerable dudgeon, Abbot Low Mofat reported to his Committee colleagues that both the Institute for Advanced Study and All Saints Church had received tax exemptions from the Department of Environmental Protection for open space lands. The ruling means a $14,000 tax loss to the Township from the Institute and a $4,000 loss from All Saints.

"The law is supposed to apply only to non-profit organizations formed to acquire land for conservation or recreational purposes," Mr. Mofat said indignantly. "That doesn't apply here. If the law is going to be interpreted this way for all non-profit institutions, the Township could lose a minimum of $75,000 a year."

Committee decided to file an objection with the Environmental Protection Commissioner.

Rate Increase Protested In another protest action, Committee voted 5-0 to petition the Public Utilities Commission not to grant the Elizabethtown Water Company its 12.3 percent rate increase request. Elizabethtown supplies Princeton water.

Characterizing the request "excessive and premature," Committee said Elizabethtown had all the resources it needed to meet its demands. The PUC was asked to examine the relationship between the request for a rate increase, and reduced water consumption. Users are cutting back to save money, reported Committee member Margaret Broadwater, who had done the research leading to the resolution. "Should rates be raised to make up for reduced consumption?" she asked.

She also questioned the policy of giving lower rates to volume users. "Should small users subsidize larger?" she continued. Committee agreed with her that the automatic adjustment clause, in which the company would get rate increases as its power costs rose, was inflation feeding on itself.

By a 4-1 vote, Committee introduced an ordinance providing $58,000 for a flood study of Mountain Lakes Brook (in the Laurel-Hillside-Mansgrove area) and the stream in the Riverside section. Mrs. Hutter voted no, saying she wanted to know first exactly where mapping would stop. It didn't go far enough in the Harry's Brook survey, she observed. Public hearing is October 13.

Committee tabled three ordinances because the Planning Board hadn't yet commented on any of them: the culvert standards measure, the zoning variance time limit and the Planning Board's involvement in zoning variance hearings.

three-and-one-half page opinion on the constitutionality of per-pupil cost sharing.

The mayor says the only way to find out whether this system is constitutional, is to keep it and then test it in the courts. If it's wiped out it can't be so tested, he says, but this doesn't mean the courts have been eliminated as a way out for Princeton. Borough Democrats, last week-end, announced they would sue if the cost sharing arrangement is changed.

Some hope remains that the Legislature will find a solution for the two communities in this area and the others that are affected before any town has to travel to court.

Support Seen. At a spur-of-the-moment meeting Monday afternoon in the conference room of Lewis Kaden, counsel to Governor Byrne, Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund asked Mr. Kaden if he'd use his good offices to set up a meeting with key legislators, education department staff and community people to discuss a solution.

Mr. Kaden promised he would, if the bill passed the Assembly that day, which it did. And he added,

"I wouldn't foreclose the possibility of Administration support."

The Princeton-Plainsboro group had learned earlier that Governor Byrne wanted the bill passed immediately (the court had imposed an October 1 deadline) and without amendment, so the hint of Administration support for something to help Princeton and Plainsboro came as a welcome word.

Officials who went to Trenton had planned in-the-corridor lobbying with key Assembly members. Republican Mayor Cawley earlier had telephoned Murray Medvin, Democrat on Council, and asked him to use some pressure on Assembly Democrats for the Borough's benefit. Mr. Medvin said he would. Nelson van den Blink, another Democrat on Council, and Mrs. Sigmund, who is a Democrat, joined Mr. Medvin.

Bill Seems Essential. However, before any serious conversations could begin, Bergen County Assembly member Ed Hynes advised Mrs. Barbara Wright of the Plainsboro delegation and Mayor Cawley that they should try to see Governor Byrne immediately. The officials trooped down the corridor to the Governor's office, learned that he was in conference but obtained an immediate meeting with Mr. Kaden.

In that meeting, Mr. Kaden told the officials that failure to pass the bill that day would mean "a state of considerable chaos." He said the bill as a whole was "a step forward" for New Jersey and better than defaulting to the courts, which could happen if the deadline were missed. He conceded that the section involved was "not something we'd spent a lot of time on," and added that treasury people had some questions about technicalities, also.

"I urge you to consider waiting," he told the group. "If you push for an amendment and win today, there won't be a school bill this year."

Mr. Kaden and Assembly members said they were afraid of what would happen in the Senate, which would have to consider the bill again if it were amended. When Mayor Cawley said, "If it passes without amendment today, what chance is there it won't ever be amended at all?"

"I can't answer that," Mr. Kaden replied, "but I can tell you we'll look at it."

School Budgets Endangered. Both Mayor Cawley and Jan Schaefer, Democrat, who is running against Mr. Cawley this year for the mayoralty job, urged Mr. Kaden to think of the budget problems facing towns like Princeton and Plainsboro.

"This is a tremendous burden on the budget procedure," Mayor Cawley protested. "I can't imagine our school budget passing if this bill is enacted."

"It will distort the whole budget-making process," Ms. Schaefer said.

"We WILL get it fought out by December at the latest so you'll know where you stand," Mr. Kaden assured them, but Mayor Cawley replied,

"How can we be sure people are taking this seriously?" and Mrs. Wright, in some bitterness, told Mr. Kaden there had been no response whatever from Assemblyman Albert Burstein, in charge of the bill in the Assembly, or Senator Stephen Wiley, sponsors of the bill.

"I am greatly pessimistic," she said shortly. "We were told the same thing in June — that the measure couldn't be amended or it would have to go back to the Senate... You are absolutely ignoring every response and you KNOW there is very little chance we'll have another option. Meanwhile, the school system is in chaos."

Support Promised. When Chester Steen, Plainsboro clerk, reminded the group that Mr. Burstein had said he'd support legislation to "buffer" the tax blow, Mrs. Wright replied that the suggested measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Karl Weidel, would simply phase the bill over a three-year period.

"It's not acceptable," she said.

Mr. Kaden said that if the bill were defeated and the courts imposed their own plan, "It wouldn't be good for Princeton," but Mrs. Sigmund laughed. She remarked that for the Borough of Princeton, the bill does exactly the opposite of what's intended. "It makes the smaller, poorer town — the Borough — pay more than the larger and richer town — the Township."

Mayor Cawley warned that the bill would mean "the death knell" for regionalizing school districts and Mr. Steen, a former president of the pre-regionalized Plainsboro school board, said, "We preached regionalization. Now you tell us our contract doesn't mean anything."

This contract argument is used by both communities in discussions with the state. John Bleimeier, running for Borough Council on the Republican ticket, passed around a statement declaring that the new bill is contrary to the spirit of the contract clause U.S. constitution because it would nullify contracts entered into by two municipalities. The referendum calling for regionalization of Borough and Township schools, provided per-pupil financing.

Mr. Kaden replied to this argument by saying towns couldn't "contract away" the legislature's power over school financing.

Commitment Made. After the meeting with Mr. Kaden, Mr. Medvin talked with Assembly member J.A. Sweeney of Burlington-Ocean Counties and got him to promise to introduce a bill to repair the tax damage. Mr. Sweeney later that afternoon, held back his vote through several roll calls, and when the tally hit the 41st vote and passage was assured, he voted "no". There are four regional school districts in Mr. Sweeney's constituency.

Mayor Cawley said the next day that he hopes for allies among legislators who voted against the bill.

PLANS FOR DINKY?

Still A-Forming. Fearful that the life of the "Dinky" rail shuttle may be snuffed out, yet equally fearful that private attempts to keep the dinky alive may cause the state to leave the scene of the accident altogether, two groups of Princeton citizens are quietly thinking about life-saving plans.

Independently, according to John Moran, Princeton University's vice-president for facilities, the two have been in Mr. Moran's office, conferring. Proposals swing around possible University Plan, it will go into effect purchase of three acres of land around the railroad station at the foot of University Place. The property has an estimated value of $225,000, according to Township tax assessor Stuart Robson.

This is about the only concrete idea anybody is willing to talk about. Mr. Moran says neither group had firm proposals, nor any clear idea about exactly how the University should proceed. Each has now gone home to make firmer plans, working against a looming deadline.

ConRail, the new network set up under the U.S. Railway Association's Final System Plan, doesn't include the dinky, chiefly because the shuttle line does not carry freight, and that's what ConRail is all about. Unless Congress disapproves the plan, it will go into effect November 9.

Clean-Up Week!

October 6 through 10 will be Clean-up Week in both Borough and Township. Householders should put trash at curb-side by 8 a.m. Containers, or such interesting debris as old washing-machines and cast-off snow tires, must be no larger than one man can carry.

Lawn debris should be in plastic bags or cartons. Twigs and branches should be tied in bundles.

Questions should be directed to the Borough Engineer's office (924-3495) or the Township engineer's office (921-7077).

Last week, New Jersey's Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner urged New Jersey's Congressional delegation to try and amend the Plan. Almost simultaneously, Senator Harrison Williams outlined a bill he's introduced which would delay for at least a year the abandonment of any rail line and provide Federal money to keep lines running during that time.

"Noodling Around." Michael Mathews, of Princeton's Save-the-Dinky Committee, says only that "a lot of ideas have been noodled around but there is no definite plan."

Like others on the Committee, he believes the dinky should be preserved by state and—or Federal subsidy. "Responsibility should be shared among taxpayers," he says, "that's what subsidy is all about."

"They're always saying, 'Those rich Princetonians can do it themselves.' Well, it isn't true. The private money just isn't there. Borough, Township and West Windsor aren't long on money and the University has so many calls on its funds it can't promise anything."

Also, Mr. Mathews points out that nobody "has established the economic viability of the dinky and shown whether it SHOULD be saved." He emphasizes that nobody is interested in saving it just for sentiment. It carries a hefty load of commuters daily who are not interested in its romantic past.

It is still a problem, Mr. Mathews finds, to get accurate figures from Penn Central so that some reliable idea of costs can be formed.

Last Thursday, at a meeting in Flemington, Douglas Webb of the state's Department of Transportation warned the DOT would make no promises on what lines the state itself might take over and run.

TV BLACKOUTS SOLVED?

Police Hope So. Borough police hope they have frightened away whoever or whatever was causing a mysterious blackout affecting Channel 2 viewers in the eastern section of town.

Police began receiving complaints about a week and a half ago from residents in the Fisher-Stanley Avenue area. Then residents of the Lloyd Terrace project off Harrison Street began to complain. Last week it had spread to Linden Lane and more recently to Chestnut Street.

"It was total interference," said Det. Robert McAvonia, assigned to the case. "No picture and very little sound. Almost a blackout."

Lloyd Terrace has one main TV antenna for all residents and its own service contract. A serviceman, using a Geiger counter type instrument, determined that the strong point of the interference seemed to be coming from the Queenston condominium project across the street.

When Det. McAvonia called CBS in Newark to ask if it had made any changes in its antenna system without informing Princeton, he was told 'no' and advised to contact the Federal Communications Commission. He called the FCC Thursday and one of the agency's men was in Princeton the next day.

Using a sophisticated $64,000 detecting device in their car, Det. McAvonia and the FCC investigator toured the eastern section of the Borough. As did the Lloyd Terrace serviceman, they Monday's pilgrimage to Trenton was not the first for Borough officials. Mayor Cawley and Mrs. van den Blink had conferred in June with legislators and the mayor, with former Borough Council member Charles Cornforth, has been prodding the legislature for over a year. The next move, Mayor Cawley said Tuesday, is home-work. In preparation for the meeting Mr. Kaden promised, Borough officials will get a list of mayors of affected towns, and each mayor will get a personal telephone call.

"We'll be asking for information on things like per capita income," Mayor Cawley said, "for example, the Borough has only about half the per capita income of the Township."

Apart from finances, the mayor worries about human relations. He's heard of 15-year-long "wars" between communities living in a shotgun financial marriage forced by the state. He's afraid Borough and Township, too, will be driven apart. He has had an ominous preview of this, he feels, in attempts to talk to Princeton's school board.

He told reporters Tuesday that last June, he talked with school board president Winthrop Pike — who is a Township resident and a Republican — and advised him that the tax problem should be a concern of the whole school board.

"I had a feeling of no response," the mayor said.

Mr. Pike, at the school board's regular monthly press conference Tuesday, said "I think it's inappropriate for the school board to take a position. The board serves BOTH communities, and the actual amount of money we get won't be affected by the different way it's apportioned."

Hannah Fox, board vice-president, said that for the first time, board members were uneasily aware that they came from either Borough or Township.

found the high point of the interference at the intersection of Mershon Drive and Cameron Court in Queenston Commons.

Switching to a portable detecting device, Det. McAvenia said that he and the FCC agent "hit every house in the neighborhood," until the agent had to leave at 5:30. Police returned at night to visit seven or eight more homes.

Det. McAvenia recalled that during the day, he and the agent had stopped to talk for 20 minutes to a pair of boys who lived in the project and were working on radios and cars. He said that they could be described as "over zealous in the field of electronics." The boys, he added, denied having anything to do with the problem.

That night, however, Channel 2 reception was clear. "I began to get calls from people thanking me for cleaning up the reception," said a nonplused McAvenia, one of the most self-effacing men on the force. "We didn't do anything," he said.

Chief Michael Carnevale disagreed. "All the homing-in and leg work paid off," he said, theorizing that the presence and questions of the two men probably had a cease-and-desist effect on whoever was responsible for the interference.

924-6162, starting this Friday. Call between 9 a.m. and noon, one day ahead of the day you want your ride. You can ride between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. No Saturday or Sunday service. The fare will be 50 cents each way, $1 round trip.

John Baker, president of the Jaycees, told Township Committee Monday night that Nassau Conover Motors is donating, free of charge, the car that will be used. The Red Cross is donating the office space. It is hoped that telephone service will be donated by The Pioneers, a group of retired Bell Telephone Company employees.

New Bus Routes. In response to requests from graduate students in Lawrence Apartments, the Outer Loop bus will now turn off Nassau and go down University Place, instead of going down Bayard Lane. It will go along Alexander to the Lawrence Apartments, thereby providing children in the Hibben Magie Apartments with bus service at the corner of Alexander and Faculty.

The Inner Loop will now remain on Harrison all the way to Nassau, passing Lloyd Terrace, then making a left on Nassau to the Riverside—Sycamore area.

UNIONIZATION LOSES

In Library Assistants' Vote. Princeton University's library assistants have voted, 97 to 72, against unionization. In the election, supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, 175 employees were eligible to vote and 169 did so.

The ballot was a simple "yes" or "no" form to decide if the library assistants wished to be represented for collective bargaining purposes by the Princeton University Library Assistants Association, affiliated with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO).

When the results of the election were made known, the following statement was issued by Richard W. Boss, University Librarian, to all library assistants:

"I hope you share my conviction that we should not stop talking about the concerns raised in the past few months now that the election is behind us. I am committed to the maintenance of a sound wage and salary program, full disclosure, staff input into decision-making and the evaluation of supervisors on their staff relations skills as well as on the productivity of their units."

"Please let me hear from you, not only in our periodic meetings, but also individually if you feel we're not adequately addressing your concerns."

William S. Reed, director of personnel services, attributed the election results to the "willingness to give Dick Boss more time and a sense of satisfaction with the steps taken so far." He added that the result of the library assistants' election is "an indication that they regard recent changes in the University's personnel policies as responsive to their needs. Today's results encourage us to continue to

A spokesman for the firm attributed the discrepancy to the fact that the potatoes had been picked when they were damp and had later shrunk.

TAPE DECK STOLEN

From Walker Hall. A stereo cassette tape deck valued at $250 and a $200 amplifier were stolen during the weekend from a room in Walker Hall on the University campus.

Police believe that the thief entered through an unlocked window. The victim, Robert J. Fisher, told police two pillow cases were also missing.

A bedspread was used to carry out a stereo tuner ($238) and 8-track tape deck ($100) from a room in Erdman Hall on the Westminster Choir College campus between 7:30 and 9 last Wednesday evening. There was no sign of forced entry.

A university student reported that her wallet containing $35 was stolen Saturday evening while she attended a dance at Wilcox Hall.

Two Civil War guns and two antique clocks were stolen this month from the home of Bruce Nichols, 889 Lawrenceville Road.

Township police report it is unknown how the thief entered the home. They received no value on the missing items.

BARBARA R. LEPENDORF

Barbara and family

Democrat for Township Committee

Princeton attorney Barbara R. Lependorf, who is listed in "Who's Who of American Women", serves as vice-chairman of the Township Board of Health. During her tenure, the Board has made special efforts to safeguard the health and safety of Township residents. Upon its recommendation, new ordinances were adopted: one requires that wells and septic systems be inspected when a house is sold; another that absentee landlords retain in-town agents to maintain rental housing. Free screening programs for hypertension and diabetes - particularly beneficial to senior citizens - have been established for all township residents.

Since 1973 Barbara has been a member of the Intergovernmental Drug Committee which coordinates drug abuse prevention and treatment programs for Princeton's teenagers.

Barbara received a B.A. in government and her law degree from the University of Buffalo and served as Assistant District Attorney of New York's Erie County between 1968 and 1970; she is a member of the bar in New York and New Jersey. From 1972 to 1974 she served as a pre-law advisor at Princeton University, advising undergraduates in their selection of appropriate law schools.

Barbara resides at 640 Prospect Avenue with her husband, Stanley, and their three children.

INTEREST RUNS HIGH
In Adult School Classes. Recession notwithstanding, registration has maintained a high level for the fall session of the Princeton Adult School, and in some interest was such that the instructors agreed to open a second section.

One of these classes is Practical Picture Framing, taught by Mrs. Elisabeth Hagen of the Queenston Shop in Pennington. A few places still remain in the 8-10 p.m. second section on Thursday evenings. Four sections of auto maintenance are on the books, with a new section in advanced auto maintenance scheduled to start on November 4 for a five-week session.

Interest in language courses has surged, with two evening sections of both French and Spanish I. Spaces are available in French III and French Review, German II, Italian I and II and Basic English I.

Needlepoint II, where there are several vacancies, will start on November 13 instead of November 6, as originally scheduled. Other classes with vacancies include: soft sculpture, watercolor, collage, first steps in art, painting in oil and acrylics, interior design on a small budget, the Bible as literature, the southern short story, Thomas Mann, bookbinding, a survey of Italian civilization, introduction to economics, and New Jersey, cockpit of the Revolution and advanced T'ai chi chuan. Also, a few places remain in the second hour of tennis and typing classes and Tuesday ceramics.

FINE POINTS about mat cutting are explained by Sandy Vidas (center) to Virginia Winegar and Lee Cobb in the Practical Picture Framing Class at the Princeton Adult School.

Registration may be made by mail until the first night of classes, September 30 or October 2. Additional brochures are available at the Princeton Public Library.

POLITICS

Sunshine, Loop Road. The Open Public Meetings ("sunshine") act and the Loop Road received the attention of Township Committee candidates this week.

Republican candidates Josie Hall and Tod Peyton urged Governor Brendon T. Byrne to sign the "Sunshine" act into law, and announced that if he doesn't, they will work for passage of a Township ordinance to achieve the same result.

The law would open executive sessions of Township Committee and Zoning Board, and the Regional Planning Board to public and press.

Citizens often feel frustrated because they think a decision has been made in advance of the public meeting, the candidates declare. A "sunshine" law would mean "an immediate improvement in the quality of government in Princeton Township", they believe, adding that public meetings might be shorter because citizens could learn facts ahead of time.

Opponent Abbot Low Moffat, from the Democratic side, made public this week his reply to a Township citizen who wanted to know whether he'd vote in favor of a road if the neighborhood didn't want it, and whether he'd vote for spending "Princeton bond money" for new roads if the neighbors protested. The writer and others successfully opposed construction of the Loop Road.

"I fear there is an implication in your question that a particular neighborhood should have a veto over an item proposed for the benefit of the entire community," Mr. Moffat replied, "I hope you will agree with me that such a veto power would be...undemocratic."

Committee members are "deeply influenced" by neighborhood views, Mr. Moffat said, but cannot give a neighborhood a veto "over a matter of possible community-wide concern."

Mr. Moffat pledged an "honest study" of the Circulation Master Plan and said he would oppose any action on the Loop Road until a new Circulation Master Plan has been acted on.

Trenton Girl Sent to Youth House. A 16-year old Trenton girl was taken to the Mercer County Youth House by Borough police last week, after she was arrested for the third time in less than 12 hours.

The girl was charged with possession of marijuana. She was then taken to the Youth House by Det. Douglas Watson, the Borough juvenile officer.

Traffic Rules for Football Saturdays

For the Princeton-Rutgers game Saturday — and for the university's remaining five home football games — Township Chief Frederick Porter has announced that police will enforce the following emergency no-parking regulations:

From 9 until after the game, parking will be banned on both sides of the following streets: Harrison from Hartley Avenue south to the Township Line near the Canal; Cedar Lane from Prospect to Sycamore, Hartley Avenue, Sycamore Road, Southern Way, Western Way, Faculty Road, Broadmead, FitzRandolph, Lake Lane and Balsam Lane.

"This is done for the benefit of residents in the area...to keep traffic off those streets and cars from destroying their property," said Chief Porter.

Police request that all residents on these streets park their cars in their driveways the night before or have them moved from the roadway by 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

After the game, Harrison Street and Washington Road will be one way south toward U.S. 1 and Faculty Road will be one way west toward Alexander.

Those living in the Hibben-Magie Apartments who want to get home must use Washington Road.

With the co-operation of West Windsor and State Police, it takes only about 20 minutes, Township police say, before these roads can revert to two-way traffic.

"It's a little inconvenient for some residents," acknowledged Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township Traffic Safety Officer, "but it's better than tying up the whole town. We push them out as fast as we can."

If police were to use regular patterns after the game, he said that it would take at least two hours before the roads were clear again.

contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was arraigned the same day before Judge Philip Carchman and later released.

At 2:30 in the morning, police had responded to a call from a University security officer that someone had broken into his car while it was parked on Nassau Street and taken the hat and shirt of his uniform.

Police a short time later found Garner and the juvenile in possession of the stolen items on Nassau Street near St. Paul's Church. They were charged with breaking and entering and larceny by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino.

Police first came in contact with the juvenile girl at 11:12 last Tuesday evening.

A Tulsa, Oklahoma man told police he had been walking near the Nassau Inn when a girl, accompanied by three men, asked him for money. When he refused she continued to follow him and ask for money. Rebuffed again, she struck him in the left side with her fist, the victim told police.

He gave them a description and the girl was arrested by Sgt. Procaccino and Ptl. William Hunter and charged with assault. Other charges are pending, police said.

ONE CASE ON AGENDA

Before Zoning Board. The Borough Zoning Board will hear only one application at its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening at 8:15 in Borough Hall.

Umberto Sferre, 103½ Linden Lane, wishes to locate a garage closer to his lot lines than the zoning ordinance permits. He needs approval from the board for bulk variances including rear and side line.

CYCLIST IS STRUCK

On Mountain Avenue. Mychiko Green, 12, 28 Pardoe

Road, was injured Friday when she was knocked from her bike while riding on Mountain Avenue near Pardoe Road.

She was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for a possible concussion and head lacerations. Her head struck the black-top pavement. "She hit the ground pretty hard," said Ptl. Robert Nielsen, the investigating officer.

He made no charges against the driver, William W. Baekler, 38, 26 Hart Avenue, Hopewell. According to the police report, Mr. Baekler was passing the cyclist when she swerved apparently to make a left turn. She was brushed by the car, causing her to fall. The mishap took place at 5:05 p.m.

Transportation is a moving issue . . . Let's put the issue in motion.

The Township should spend the loop road money, but not on roads.

The Loop Road was conceived in other times, in other circumstances. The Township's capital budget still provides for Loop Road construction. We move to spend that money on transportation—things we need now.

HELP THE LOOP BUS JUSTIFY ITS SUBSIDY

The loop bus is still on parade in two-car-per-family neighborhoods. The Joint Commission on Transportation offered sound advice: Put the route where the most potential riders are, monitor its performance, attract all the riders we can, then decide whether or not to keep it.

BUILD BIKE PATHS FOR GETTING AROUND TOWN SAFELY.

Bike paths can't really substitute for other modes of transportation, but they do separate bikes and pedestrians from their natural enemy, the automobile. They are inherently recreational wherever they go. They should be put where protection is most needed.

BRING BACK CROSSTOWN-62

This was the experiment that worked—it proved that our older citizens need help to get around town. Yet, it was "suspended." We want it back.

SAVE THE DINKY OR FIND A SUBSTITUTE

Never mind the sentiment—The PJ&B is an essential part of our transportation system. Right now the "Dinky" is everyone else's problem—the State's, the County's, the D.O.T.'s. If the "Dinky" stops, the Princetons will have the problem.

In the Township We've Got to Start Making More Hard Decisions.

A coordinated approach to transportation in Princeton is the key. Potentially competing services have been tested at the same time rather than separately. We favor a better planned attack on the evaluation of these services and realistic decisions based on fact and logic.

STUDENTS ASSAULTED
In Separate Attacks. Two pairs of Princeton University undergraduates were assaulted early Sunday morning in separate attacks on the campus near Spelman Halls and the railway station. Police have a description of a suspect who they believe was responsible for both attacks.

Police received a report of the first attack at 12:17 a.m. The two students were confronted by three men, one of whom allegedly punched one of the victims in the face and pushed the second student around.

At 1:09, police received a similar report: two students confronted by three men and then assaulted by one of the three. None of the students, police said, required medical aid. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. Kerry Klink investigated.

ITALIAN NIGHT...
At Public Library. Invitations, in Italian, have gone out to Princeton's residents of Italian descent inviting them to an "Italian Night" next Wednesday, October 1 at the Princeton Public Library.

Translators will help the library staff guide guests on a tour of the library, and will introduce Robert Staples, the librarian, and his colleagues. There will be a film and a display of Italian books.

Nancy di Meglio and Ida Baldino have been co-ordinators of the affair. Translators will be Gabriella Marchetti, Serena Terziotti, Mary Ann Mosso and Elaine Soda.

BACK TO SCHOOL...
Board to Meet. Not much home-work for the school board before next Tuesday's first meeting of the school year. It will be held at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

The board will take routine action adopting a list of textbooks (including "Little Women"), and will discuss three parts of a developing Princeton School Code, including Board Policy Development, Written Communications and Academic Calendar. The latter policy sets out rules for constructing a school calendar in the belief, perhaps naive, that if there are rules, there won't be annual debates.

New equal opportunities guidelines may also come up for discussion although they are not on the formal agenda. The schools have not yet received enough information from the state to make firm plans about implementing new state rules for children who are bi-lingual.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND SET By Princeton Alumni. The Princeton Area Alumni Association of Princeton University has contributed $6,000 to establish a scholarship fund for students from the area who enroll in the university.

In making the announcement, the association's president, Jeremiah Ford, 3rd '54, 635 Snowden Lane, explained that the sum was amassed during the presidency of Richard H. Sly '44, 74 Marion Road East, whom he has succeeded.

"A portion of the dues paid by our 400 members was set aside for the scholarship fund," Mr. Sly explained. "Area students," he said, "will benefit from the interest, since the sum is being incorporated into the university's investment fund."

Mr. Ford noted that there are some 2,000 Princeton University alumni living in the area.

QUILTS ON VIEW

At Historical Society. A display of quilts and coverlets is on view Tuesday through Friday, 10 to 4, and Saturday and Sunday 2-4 until mid-December at the Historical Society, 158 Nassau Street. Of particular interest to Princetonians is the Olden Quilt done in the flying geese pattern and signed by members of the Olden family. Through the courtesy of the State Museum, the Bicentennial Appliqued Quilt, which was made by the YWCA, is a special feature of the exhibition.

In conjunction with the show, the Society will conduct quilting classes on Monday evenings, starting October 20 from 7:30-9:30. The cost is $30 for members and $33 for non-members, and materials will be provided. The society will also repeat its series of needlework lessons as well as theorem painting classes. For further information, call 921-6748.

IF you have a claim involving any business firm located within 25 miles of Princeton, call 924-0338 and let Consumer Bureau's panel of consumer volunteers help straighten matters out! (No charge for this service).

News Of The CHURCHES

APARTMENT SOUGHT

For Council-Sponsored Family. The Princeton Interfaith Council is apartment-hunting for the Phung Duc Nguyen family, Vietnamese refugees recently arrived under the sponsorship of the Council through Church World Service. The family is currently living in two spare bedrooms at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O. Keizer, 732 Princeton-Kingston Road, but needs a two-bedroom apartment of its own.

Mr. Nguyen, who is in his early thirties, has a good understanding of written English and a grasp of spoken English. He is enrolled in an advanced English course at Mercer County Community College and is eager to find work of any kind to support his family.

Mr. Nguyen has a bachelor's degree in mathematics and taught for six years in public secondary schools.

MEET THE NGUYENS: Recently arrived in Princeton under the sponsorship of the Interfaith Council, they are anxious to find their own apartment and means of support.

During the war years, he supplemented the family income by teaching in private schools in Saigon and the surrounding provinces in the afternoons. For a time he was able to establish his own private school in Saigon, where he was headmaster over 30 teachers and 1,000 students.

His wife, Le Thi Vo, was a beautician in her home village when she met Mr. Nguyen. They have been married for two years and have a five-month old son, Vuong, who was born during the height of the Communist takeover. The fourth member of the family is Loc, now 22, an orphan who was adopted when very young by Mr. Nguyen's father.

Anyone with information about an apartment, preferably near shopping or public transportation, may call Jon Hlafter, 452-3503; Henry Broad, 924-6000, or Billie Martin, 921-9498. Ideas for on employment opportunities for Mr. Nguyen and Loc may be phoned to Leslie L. Vivian, 452-3018 and 924-3074, or to Jules Dussourd, 921-9103 and 466-2860. Contributions for the work of the Committee for Relocation of Vietnamese Families of the Princeton Interfaith Council are welcome and may be made to the Lutheran Church of the Messiah or any local church by checks marked Vietnamese Relocation.

The Rev. Ms. Evans, who is the wife of Dr. Robert Maxwell, associate professor of religion at Westminster Choir College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Rian, 404 Snowden Lane, is the Presbyterian campus pastor at Columbia University and a participant in many national and international conferences. Ordained in 1969, she is a graduate of Jamestown College, magna cum laude, Princeton Theological Seminary and the University of Basel in Switzerland.

Author of numerous articles and a former missionary and teacher in Brazil, the Rev. Evans is the mother of four children.

A UNIQUE PRODUCT IS BEING INTRODUCED TO A UNIQUE TOWN

Lily Kit, a brand new concept in the teaching and learning of needlepoint, is being presented to Princeton first.

Designed for the raw beginner, the novice, the needlepoint dropout, the woman, the man, the teenager who wants to learn in a new way the old art of needlepoint.

Lily Kit includes all the materials normally found in a needlepoint kit (canvas, needle, yarn for two squares). But what makes Lily Kit unique is THE BOOK. Lily Kit includes a 24-page color volume which guides you gradually, smoothly, easily through five beautiful stitches to the completion of a one-of-a-kind sampler, truly an heirloom.

With this one book you can make an infinite number of different designs. Using the same book, each member of the family can make his or her own individualized sampler by purchasing only an additional canvas, handmarked by Lily Kit.

Try it. If you don't like it you'll get your money back.

For the very reasonable price of $11.50 plus $.58 tax you can get a Lily Kit.

For only $3.50 plus $.18 tax you can get an additional canvas at any time.

It's a terrific buy. And you even save money on gasoline because you order by mail from

Q. Is any 1975 car actually worth the money?

If value is a question of dollars and sense, the Audi 100LS is unquestionably the answer. Because the Germans had one thing in mind when they created the Audi: a fine machine at a reasonable price.

You won't find flash or frills, you'll find a quiet understated elegance: a full-sized car that comfortably carries five, the luxury of legroom and headroom of some cars twice the price; orthopedically-designed reclining seats.

And you'll find superb engineering. To front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering and independent front suspension, we've added outboard vented disc brakes for less possibility of fade. We've added negative steering-tail radius to enable the Audi to self-correct in a front-wheel blowout and help maintain directional stability. And we've added fuel injection for easier starts, smoother acceleration and better gas mileage. Now the Audi gets 28 miles to the gallon on the highway.

At $5845, it's exactly what it was created to be: a fine machine at a reasonable price. There's simply no question about it.

DELVE INTO THE MYSTERIES of Life. Consider the reality in which you are immersed. Is every act performed with full attention, or do you unconsciously use your old habits while in a mental fog? Consider your habit of turning on the faucet and then drinking a glass of water. Do you know what pesticide residues or carcinogens (if any) are in that water? Do you know about fluoridation? Do you know the pros and cons? How about beef? Do you know what steroids are? Do you know what a feed lot does? Will they affect your life? Or, when was the last time you were sick and the doctor prescribed antibiotics? You'd probably be interested in what they do to the intestinal flora and also what you can do to get your system back in order. Well, we've been here for five years and we're learning more and more each day! We are concerned about your world. We have water purifiers, we have organically raised food of all sorts, naturally raised beef (for an excellent price this time), and excellent herbs and spices. We also have JOTUL WOOD STOVES that are capable of heating any home with only carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and oxygen going up the chimney! But more than that we have a wealth of information; books, lots of them; charts, posters, labels, pamphlets and, people running the store who will do their best to answer the questions you may have, especially those that are pertinent to the realities of living a natural life. So, stop by the WHOLE EARTH CENTER just about a mile from Palmer Square and walk if you possibly can - to 360 Nassau Street.

$24,900 buys more at Avon Village than anywhere else in New Jersey.

Over 100 families have already chosen Avon Village at Twin Rivers over every other community in New Jersey for one reason: value. From the smallest detail to the overall picture, Avon Village really does give you much, much more.

More house. The garden homes are beautifully designed — bright, spacious, tasteful and private. Materials and construction are noticeably superior to what you're used to seeing these days. Every home includes:

- Excellent closets
- Laundry closets with GE washer and dryer
- Deluxe GE refrigerator, oven/range with hood, dishwasher
- Central air conditioning
- Wall-to-wall carpeting, choice of colors
- Private patio or terrace
- Ceramic tile baths

Better recreational facilities. There are four swim and tennis clubs at Twin Rivers, ballfields — even a private clubhouse where you can entertain yourself and your friends.

Incredible convenience. Everything's at your doorstep and your fingertips. Two elementary schools and medical and dental facilities right at Twin Rivers. A large shopping village with supermarket, library, shops, banks. Excellent restaurants.

Terrific commuting. Instead of killing yourself every day bucking traffic on Route 9 or the Garden State Parkway, you'll be rolling along the traffic-free New Jersey Turnpike. And, if you commute to N.Y.C., buses leave regularly from Twin Rivers for a smooth 65-minute express ride to Port Authority.

Home ownership and tax benefits. You also get all the financial advantages of home ownership plus total freedom from exterior maintenance of your condominium home and grounds. You'll also save 5% of purchase price as a credit against your 1975 Federal Income Tax.

You get all this plus Twin Rivers, the magnificent new prestige community everyone's raving about. You can't afford not to see what Avon Village offers in solid housing value at the area's lowest prices.

We have four good examples - a period Pembroke with original brass; a walnut that seats eight easily; a large pine with drawer, spacious and comfortable; and also a walnut gate leg, attractive and useful, but inexpensive since it is not period. Iron beds, of which we have two, and an attractive early iron crib. Collection of Staffordshire pitchers (will do another pitcher window as requested). Oil painting of New York Harbor, 1775. "WALL VIEW" by Robert Lafond. Strong color and form characterize the collection of paintings now on display at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art.

ART

In Princeton

THE FALL SCENE

At Gallery of Fine Art. Explorations of color and space by Robert Lafond are featured at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. The collection is an individualistic examination of the possibilities of paint combined with suggestions of the several stylistic approaches that have influenced this young painter.

High color dominates the effect of the collection and is often joined in unusual balances that influence interior space. In many of the works displayed, the major statement is made solely through color while others lean more heavily on design. Throughout the collection, expressive brushwork is used to soften edges and integrate form.

Lafond has become involved with various spatial effects that are created through surface changes. These include the dynamics created by combining three small canvases within one frame and applying canvas upon canvas, creating a collage effect with a single material.

The effects of the construction are altered by the interplay of palette and brush. The dynamics of the colors used are altered through the stylistic differences in paint application, overpainting and relationships created by color placement.

The painter communicates his own experience through the expressive manner in which these works are constructed. The viewing of this collection must, necessarily, be an equally subjective experience. Emotional relationships developed through color and form extend themselves to the observer through the painter's brush.

At Gallery 100. Ken McIndoe has been painting the local landscape for several years and Gallery 100 has been exhibiting the results. Although his work has been heavily derivative, maintaining a Van Gogh-like rendering in both brushwork and palette, the local scene has held his attention and, in the current exhibition his own style has begun to emerge. In this collection the scenes continue to be of the Princeton area but there is a stylistic evolution in which McIndoe and his own skills and personal perspectives begin to reveal themselves.

His brushwork remains heavy and vigorous but his palette, which is now quite conservative, contains indication of personal aesthetic response. Farm scenes, architectural studies and comfortable glimpses of the remaining rural scene are rendered in color that is almost naturalistic. McIndoe's brushwork has become more fluid and, in some of the paintings, an expressive relationship with color and paint reveals itself.

At McCarter Theatre. The current exhibition at McCarter Theater contains the product, artistic and otherwise, of the faculty of the Princeton Art Association. Fortunately, there are a large number of works executed in many media which lend diversity to what might otherwise be an extremely tedious viewing experience.

Collage, silk screen, intaglio printing, sculpture, drawing, weaving and lithography are included. These are accompanied by a profusion of the generally weakly conceived and executed watercolor painting that proliferates in this community. There are, happily, a few works of quality that enable the viewer to grasp the thin hope that art has not flown from the Princeton area.

The graphics are generally competent and occasionally excellent. A few well executed, traditional watercolors of traditional subjects contrast with a great many clichés and quite a few that lack skill in execution. There are, unfortunately, some works in this display that run closer to student than teacher level.

The Princeton Art Association has made a continuing effort to present as rich an art display as possible for the benefit of the Princeton community. Elizabeth Monath, who directs the exhibitions, is to be commended for her efforts and energy in this direction. We are hopeful that the available materials will be richer in future shows.

At The Art Museum. The permanent collection predominates while the museum gears up for an active and diverse season. This includes a great deal that is taken for granted throughout the year, but deserves more careful scrutiny. Collections of Medieval and oriental art,

SHAKESPEARE ET AL
Permanent Troupe to Form. A Shakespearean troupe, whose founders plan to present everything from "Coriolanus" to "Steambath," will be formed this year at Princeton Inn College. It's to be called the Princeton Inn Shakespeare Players, and townspeople as well as students are invited to drop by Princeton Inn College this Thursday between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. to have a glass of wine and discuss the project. The troupe plans to give "Coriolanus" first, followed later in the season by Bruce Jay Friedman's "Steambath" with another Shakespeare production in the spring. Rod March, who directed Princeton Inn College's "Much Ado About Nothing" last year, and who is the founder of the new organization, will direct "Coriolanus."

At the open house this Thursday, audition times for the first production will be announced. The size of the Inns theatre - it has a seating capacity of 100 - leads the Players' founders to hope they can revive the intimacy of the theatre of Shakespeare's day. Actors, stage technicians, even scholars are welcome.

Additional information may be obtained from Rod March at 452-0209.

FILMS FROM ABROAD....
... and U.S., at McCarter. "Hearts and Minds," Peter Davis' study of American involvement in the Vietnam War, will be the opening film in McCarter Theatre's Movies-at-McCarter series. It will be shown Tuesday, October 14.

During the year, McCarter will show 18 programs consisting of films from the United States and six other nations. Films will be screened at McCarter and in 10 McCosh Hall on the Princeton University campus. Series subscriptions are available at the McCarter box-office.

Other French films scheduled for the series are Michel Drach's "Les Violons du Bal," about the director's own experiences as a child in Nazi-occupied France; Louis Malle's "Murmur of the Heart," in which a boy comes of age and to terms with the puzzle and challenge of sexuality; Pascal Thomas' "Don't Cry with Your Mouth Full" and Luis Bunuel's "Phantom of Liberty."

Other films from the United States will be Walt Disney's version of "Alice in Wonderland," "The White Dawn," a quasi-documentary about three New England whalers in the Canadian Arctic; Terence Malick's "Badlands," about a 1968 murder spree; the X-rated satire, "Is There Sex After Death?" and "Drive, He Said," about a college basketball star and his radical roommate.

McCarter has also scheduled two programs from Switzerland: "The Invitation" and "Middle of the World." Great Britain will be represented by "A Bigger Splash," about English pop artist David Hockney, and Joseph Losey's film version (made originally for television) of Ibsen's "A Doll's House," starring Jane Fonda as Nora, with Trevor Howard and David Warner.

Satyajit Ray's "Distant Thunder" will bring India into the series. From Germany, McCarter has imported "Ali," the story of a love-affair between a 60-year-old office cleaning woman and a young Moroccan laborer who is a garage mechanic. From Jamaica, there will be "The Harder They Come," a 1971 film about the world of reggae music.

A brochure giving complete dates, titles and subscription information is available from McCarter, Box 526, Princeton.

Music, Food 'n Drink! (And Pay the Landlord)

A "rent" party, where you drop your contributions into a big spittoon, play a fast game of blackjack (no money involved, so how can you lose?), knock back a few drinks and listen to music, music, music...that's the way Community Players will stave off the landlord and pay the rent on their 171 Broadmead Theatre.

The Players' 1930s "Rent Party" will be held at 171 Broadmead on Saturday, October 4, from 9 p.m. "Rent" for the evening is $2, but there are lots of ways you can spend money beyond that. Your quarter in the spittoon will entitle you, perhaps, to a lesson in the Castle Walk (a dance lots older than the '30s, but who counts?). And since the Players have acquired a liquor license for the evening, you can belly up to the cash bar, confident that it won't be 1930s bootleg liquor. Food, of course.

Besides blackjack, there will be poker and a roulette wheel but it's all perfectly legal and you'll just be playing for blue chips. Films — or to be more accurate, "movies" — of the 1930s will be shown, and the Players would love it if you'd dig into your costume wardrobe and come up with a '30s costume. You don't have to, of course, but it would be fun.

Lots of performers who have been around the community — well, not too long — will be singing, dancing and playing musical instruments and you'll get their names next week.
For now, just mark down the date.

ALBEE, SIMON In Players' Fall Schedule. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" will launch
the Princeton Community Players into their 1975-76 season with a production scheduled to open November
7. The Edward Albee drama will play that weekend, and again on November 14, 15 and 16 and 24 and 25. Churchill
Clark and Barbara Wilbert will share direction. After the holidays, the Players will warm the winter scene with a musical. It will be Stephen Sondheim's "Company," to be directed by Janet Wilson for presentation January 9, 10 and 11; 16, 17 and 18 and 23 and
24. Spring will begin with Neil Simons' "The Gingerbread Lady," to be given March 5, 6 and 7; 12, 13 and 14 and 19 and 20. Kimothy Cruse will direct. The season will close with John Dos Passos'
"U.S.A.," which will open
April 30 and play May 1 and 2; 7, 8 and 9 and 14 and 15. All plays will, as in the previous season, be given in the theatre at 171 Broadmead. People who would like to join the Players are invited to make inquiries by writing Box 2171, Princeton.

BOGDANOVITCH

In Intime Film. Peter
Bogdanovitch's film
"Targets" will be shown at Murray Theatre this week-end as the third in Theatre Intime's series of fall films. It will be shown this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m.
Admission is $1.

"Targets" is Bogdanovitch's first film as a director. In it, he contrasts factory-made Hollywood horror films with the reality of a psychotic murderer at large in Los Angeles. Boris Karloff, in his last role, plays an aging movie
"monster" and Tim O'Kelly plays the adolescent murder-der. Bogdanovitch himself makes an appearance, after the manner of Hitchcock.

CABARET TO RETURN

To Nassau Inn. The Inn
Cabaret, the weekly musical and comedy revue which enlivened the Nassau Inn this summer, will return for six more shows this fall, according to director Daniel F.
Berkowitz. The Cabaret will have shows on October 10, 17, and 24, and November 7, 14, and 21 in the Prince William Room of the Inn.

"The response we had to our first set of cabarets this summer was fantastic," said Berkowitz, "and so, with the encouragement of the Nassau Inn, we decided to do more this fall. We'll still have a new show each week, as we did this summer, but there will be some changes—the shows each Friday will be at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m., which is earlier than before, and we're working on getting a small stage and better seating arrangements. Also this fall, people will be able to make reservations for the shows, which is something we couldn't do before."

Auditions for the Cabaret will be held on Tuesday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Prince William Room. Singers wishing to try out should bring sheet music with them.

The Cabaret is especially interested in original comedy materials and performers.
Material submitted cannot be returned unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MUSIC In Princeton

SEASON BEGINS
For Non-Performing Orchestra. The Princeton Community Orchestra will meet in the Princeton High School Band Room on next Thursday, October 2, at 8 to start its 12th season under the direction of Joseph Kovacs, concert violinist and faculty member of Douglass College, Westminster Choir College and Princeton Day School. The Community Orchestra is primarily a "reading" orchestra, which provides its members with an opportunity to become familiar with much of the symphonic literature without the pressure to polish for performances. This season two informal "open rehearsals" are planned for February and May for invited audiences.

The orchestra serves as a focal point from which many other musical activities emanate. It is the parent group for the Collegium Musicum of Princeton, also under the direction of Mr. Kovacs.

Members of the orchestra are instrumentalists both professional and amateur who live in the area and enjoy the opportunity to play together. An interest in the music and sufficient command of one's instrument to be able to sight-read the part are the only requirements.

Meetings are held twice monthly on the first and third Thursdays. Annual dues, to pay for music and the director's salary, are $15 for adults and $7.50 for students. To join, call Mr. Kovacs at 921-8732, or J. Rogers Woolston at 921-2478.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

Kids Invited
All students in grades seven through 12 are invited, at $1.50 each, to attend the afternoon rehearsal for the Victor Borge - Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra concert Friday, October 3, at 3:30 p.m. in the Kirby Arts Center of The Lawrenceville School. The 70 young musicians in the orchestra come from schools throughout the Delaware Valley. The benefit concert will feature Mr. Borge's comic monologues, Broadway show tunes, a vocal chorus, Mr. Borge at the piano — and symphonic music.

MUSICAL EVENINGS
Choir College Plans Seven. As part of its 50th anniversary celebrations this year, Westminster Choir College will hold "Seven Musical Evenings for 1975-76," a series of concerts offered for musical enjoyment without charge. The first concert of the series will be a "Lecture Demonstration on the Piano Works of Johannes Brahms," presented by Harold Zabrack, to be held in the Playhouse at the College at 8 on October 6. Mr. Zabrack, chairman of the piano department at Westminster, studied piano with Rudolph Ganz at the Chicago Musical College, composition with Nadia Boulanger, and, under the auspices of a Fulbright Scholarship, was a pupil of Carl Seeman. He was a Diploma winner at the International Piano Competition in Munich, Germany, and has undertaken a United Jaws: The epic hunt for the great white killer shark that terrorizes a summer village has become the top film grosser of all time, surpassing "The Godfather" and "Gone With The Wind." It has been at the Garden since June and shows no signs of slowing down.

LAWRENCE

Gone With The Wind: More than three hours of Scarlet O'Hara and Rhett Butler and still probably the champ in the eyes of those 30 and older. If you haven't seen this largely sympathetic view of the South during the Civil War go and see how a great film could be made without nude scenes and profanity. Clark Gable at his zenith. Also fine portrayal by Leslie Howard.

PRINCE

Blue Water, White Death. The phenomenal success of "Jaws" has prompted a spate of books and movies about sharks. So it is not surprising that this 1971 film by Peter Gimbel, skin diver and underwater photographer, has been re-released.

Gimbel (of Gimbel Brothers) was determined to track down a Great White Shark, "the largest, deadliest, most coldblooded predator in the world." "Blue Water, White Shark" is a record of his search as he scours the world's oceans.

Dramatic overtones of Moby Dick hover over the film but it is only faintly sketched. In essence, what emerges is a conventional documentary out of the Jacques Yves-Cousteau school.

That is no put down. The underwater sequences are fascinating, especially when the divers leave their cages to go among the feeding sharks. New or old-time shark buffs will be amply rewarded. In color.

In Jazz-Rock Concert. The University radio station WPRB will present a double concert Friday, October 3, at 8 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Featured will be Barry Miles & Silverlight and Michael Urbaniak & Fusion, with Ursula Dudziak as vocalist.

Barry Miles is a native New Jerseyan who turned professional at age 9. He is an accomplished composer and pianist and a leading force among jazz-rock "fusion" musicians. His solo albums have won critical acclaim, and with Silverlight he has created a new musical environment.

Michael Urbaniak won the critic's poll in Downbeat magazine as the artist most deserving greater recognition. A violinist combining the best of progressive rock and jazz with hints of the folk songs of his native Poland, Mr. Urbaniak was voted Europe's Best Jazz Musician before he moved to this country last year. His wife, Ms. Dudziak, was named Europe's Best Female Jazz Vocalist.

Tickets at $4.50 and $5 are available from WPRB, P.O. Box 342.

NEW COURSES PLANNED

By Piano Group. Princeton Piano Group is offering three new courses this fall, beginning Tuesday: Creative Music for Pre-Schoolers, Recorder classes for elementary children, and Beginning Piano for Adults.

The course in pre-piano for 4 and 5 year olds, based on the methods and materials of Carl Orff and Zoltan Kodaly will be taught by Cynthia Chamberlain, a new PPG staff member. The primary emphasis will be on rhythm and improvisation, using various rhythm and melody instruments.

Two classes in recorder will also be taught by Ms. Chamberlain. A class for first and second graders will meet twice a week. Children will first learn to sing particular songs which they can later play on the recorder, and as their musical knowledge increases, on piano. Recorder class for students with previous recorder experience will meet each Thursday afternoon for 45 minutes.

A new book, "Piano Study For Adult Beginners," written for PPG by Doris Allen, will be introduced this fall in the adult division. Interested teenagers and adult students can register for private weekly lessons (taught by staff members), or for a combination of group (taught by Mrs. Allen), and private lessons.

FREE LECTURE ON ART

Next Saturday, October 4. A free lecture on American art will be given Saturday, October 4, at 10:30 a.m. at The Art Museum of Princeton University. The lecture is sponsored by the Historical Society in connection with the exhibition, "American Paintings: A Gathering from Three Centuries" at Squibb Gallery, October 5-31. The exhibition includes 65 privately-owned works of art from 48 Princeton area homes, most of which have never been shown before.

Lecturers will be Abigail Booth, coordinator of the Smithsonian's Bicentennial Inventory of American Paintings Executed before 1914, and Ellwood Parry, assistant professor of art history, Columbia University. Miss Booth will review the purpose and achievements of the national census of privately-owned paintings. Dr. Parry will survey the stylistic changes of American art and discuss their implications. His remarks will be illustrated with color slides, including many of the paintings from the exhibition in Squibb Gallery.

A catalog containing all 65 pieces in the exhibition and an introduction by Dr. Parry will be available for $2.50 at the lecture. Guests will be given passes for a preview visit to Squibb Gallery following the lecture. The collection will open to the public Sunday, October 5, from 1-5.

ONE-MAN SHOW OPENS

At Jinglestone Gallery. An exhibit of canvases by Marcus opened this week at the Jinglestone Gallery in Sergeantsville and will run through October 22. An artist who feels that fadism has obscured the foundations of art, Marcus seeks to return craftsmanship, skill and mastery of medium and materials to their proper place in the creative process.

Marcus was a colleague of Dennis Debo, Steven Loomis and Anastasia in Sausalito, Cal. before he moved to New Jersey last year. He has exhibited in San Francisco and Sausalito and is represented in private collections in several western states. The public is invited to meet the artist at a reception Sunday from 5-7.

The Jinglestone Gallery is located at the blinker in Sergeantsville, six miles south of Flemington on Route 523, and is open Wednesday through Sunday from 12-5. Jinglestone Antiques, in the same quarters, carries a small, select line of 18th and 19th century American and English furniture and accessories.

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWN

By Architect in Hopewell. Robert Sussna, an architect and planner with offices at 20 Nassau Street, is exhibiting a collection of photographs at D&D Frames, 23 Railroad Place, Hopewell.

Mr. Sussna, who received a bachelor's degree in architecture at Cornell University, became interested in photography as a means of presenting architectural design solutions. He has audited photography courses taught by Peter Bunnell at Princeton University and recently completed the advanced session at the Maine Photographic Workshops.

Working exclusively with a 4 x 5 view camera, he describes his photographs as "literal, precise descriptions of ordinary things in the landscape which are at the same time enigmatic and abstract." A visiting lecturer and critic at Mercer County Community College, Trenton State College and Columbia Teachers College, Mr. Sussna has architectural photographs of historically significant buildings in the Library of Congress.

FRICK HALL EMPTIED

By Lab Mishap. Frick Hall was emptied Thursday afternoon when a student dropped a container of flammable fluid which ignited and spread green and yellow fumes through the hallways. A general alarm was sounded at 3:43.

The student, Robert Henrie, sustained first and second degree burns on his right leg. No one else was injured. The fire was extinguished by students in adjoining labs using chemical extinguishers, aided by proctor Cory Kammler.

Mr. Henrie reportedly dropped a large flask almost filled with tetrahydrofuran. The liquid spread across the floor into the hallway and burst into flames. Some bulletin boards were ignited but were quickly snuffed out.

Volunteer firemen wearing masks used a "cherry picker" to reach the second floor lab and let the fumes escape. A member of the chemical department said that the chemicals involved would not give off toxic fumes.

FRICK FIRE FIGHTER: Volunteer firemen operate this "cherry picker" to reach second-floor lab in Frick Hall where a small but potentially dangerous fire occurred Thursday afternoon.

RUMMAGE SOUGHT

For Medical Center Sale. Many volunteers are getting ready for the Fall Rummage Sale, sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton on October 5 through 8 at the Italian American Sportsmen's Club, 454 Terhune Road. However, they still need items to sell.

Donations may be left at the Italian American Sportsmen's Club on Sunday or Monday, October 5 or 6. Small appliances, kitchen items, sporting goods, games, toys, books, clothing that is clean and in good condition, working TV sets, record players and furniture (except major appliances) are all welcome.

Unused bric-a-brac could fit someone's needs. Jewelry is an especially good item, and donations, particularly that in need of repair, will be received now in the Volunteer Office in the Medical Center at Princeton. For further information, call Mrs. A. G. Lummis (924-4652) or Mrs. R. Mellinger (924-0292).

The Rummage Sale Committee hopes everyone will plan to contribute articles on October 5 and 6 and shop on October 7 and 8. All proceeds go to the Medical Center at Princeton.

Christopher Ross, 24, and Charles H. Read, 22, both of the Wiggins Street address, applied for a pre-trial investigation.

All were charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana) and LSD. In addition, Read and Ms. Brown were charged with growing marijuana plants. Police allegedly confiscated an

They combine the musical styles of five women: Martha Trachtenberg on guitar and vocals, Nancy Josephson on bass and vocals, Susie Monick on banjo and pedal steel, Carol Siegel on mandolin and vocals, and Sue Raines on fiddle. The band was formed in Syracuse and has since played numerous clubs, colleges, and festivals.

Admission to the concert is $2.50 general, $2 student, and $1.50 for members. Society memberships will be available at the door. There are no advance ticket sales. For further information, call Buzz Jobs at (609) 882-5531.

IT'S NEW To Us

A THEORY PROVEN
Landau's Too Expands. For the youngster or woman who is smaller than that perfect size 10, shopping is usually a frustrating experience. For if the article fits, chances are high that the style is inappropriate.

After years of watching teenagers (and small women) struggle into the misses and junior sizes carried in their store, the Landaus decided that Princeton needed to satisfy this market, and last spring they opened Landau's Too devoted to teen and young junior sizes.

As with any new venture (and particularly in the fickle area of teenage styles), the Landaus had many questions as to what direction the new store should take. Robert Landau said, "We didn't want to project taste, but our New York consultant advised us that in order to be successful we should keep the same look as that in the main store."

The other requirement was for lower prices. A girl who may change her mind on style or grow into another size by next fall is just not willing to make a major investment in clothing (and undoubtedly her mother would agree.)

Size is Doubled. Time answers many questions and the need for this market was shortly proven. Not only were there more Princeton teenagers than the Landaus had suspected, but college coeds and small women also enthusiastically welcomed the new store.

SIZED TO FIT: Tiny Myung Kim is a perfect example of the small figure Landau's Too has in mind with its teen and young junior clothing.

As a result, late this summer Landau's Too closed its doors and shortly reopened with a spacious new store twice the size of the original.

"We are following through on a look we know is successful," said Mr. Landau. In fact some of the same styles are here in smaller sizes, with small price tags. There are short Scottish kilts in a variety of tartans, all cotton Skyr turtlenecks and brightly colored slickers, $8 to $30.

The sweaters probably best tell the story. For years Deans' cable crewneck has been Landau's best selling sweater and they are here in the new store too, only in boys sizes which are smaller and cost $18 versus $22.

Another favorite are the Fair Isle sweaters which come in many luscious colors, and while these sell at $34, Robert Landau looked hard for a less expensive copy. The result is an acrylic version by Garland in five colors at $15.

Styles Updated. However, because this younger market is a fashion conscious one, many of the traditional looks have been updated. For instance by Try Us we saw a black watch plaid jumper with front buttons, small breast pockets, a tie for the waist and tiny cap sleeves, $24.

Other contemporary looks include a rust corduroy dress with an obi belt to wrap around your waist; a mid-calf black corduroy skirt that buttons down the front with wooden toggles; and cut-off shetland sweaters from England in crewneck, turtleneck and v-neck cardigan styles, $21 to $28.

There is clothing here you would never expect to find in the main store. We saw blue jean apron jumpers that have been washed in an acidic solution to give them a faded look, $22 (there are pre-washed corduroy flared skirts too at $12); blue quilted Chinese jackets trimmed in red, $15; and all cotton shirts from India in solid colors and several patchwork styles, $10 and $14.

"We are very price conscious here. $9 or $10 is a big thing for a teenager," said Robert Landau. Most of the blouses and slacks whether they be corduroys, knits, prints or jeans are priced between $10 and $15.

However, Landaus has also found that where style is concerned price often is not the major concern. A look the juniors definitely want this season is a butcher apron jumper, and a wrapped version by Lanz with a tie waist and front pockets in aquamarine corduroy costs $32. Yet it is selling as well or better than a similar light green corduroy one priced at $17. And for $44 you can have the ultimate in butcher aprons — the Lanz version in green or rust ultrasuede.

The juniors are also seeking out the Rugby striped shirts in a light sweater knit, $22, and long flannel nightgowns by Lanz in darling small prints, $13.

What's "In", Walks Out. The teenage market is such that if it's something the kids like, it walks out of the store in two to three days. This happened with a group of heavy hooded sweaters, perfect for a light fall jacket. However, similar ones are coming, and currently Landau's Too has a sweatshirt-styled one in navy, rust or white, $20.

About half the clothing is geared toward teenagers. For instance there are bib-front overalls and a group of patchwork co-ordinates trimmed with faded blue corduroy that Mr. Landau says are "obviously adorable for this store," $15 for the flared button-front skirt to $26 for the blazer.

The other half is for the juniors and small women, and here the clothing has a more sophisticated look. By Red Eye there is a group that starts with green, berry or blue fly-front knit pants which can be teamed with a series of tops. There are striped long-sleeved t-shirts, solid turtlenecks, embroidered cut-off tops and even one with a

As anyone who has ever dealt with construction well knows, the final touches can take forever and Landau's Too is still waiting for a sign and new display racks.

However, the concept of this new store as designed by architect Michael Landau, is one of an open floor for an airy and spacious feeling. The clothing will be displayed along the walls on "F" type racks that will allow coordinates to be shown together.

Display is critical and the store is geared this way. There are burlap overhangs throughout the store for pinning up new styles and in the window are long burlap panels that can be easily twisted to show the other side. There are many mirrors and dressing rooms, and there will be a seating area where mother can wait while daughter shops -- or vice versa. Landau's Too, 126 Nassau Street, is open Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 5:30 and Saturdays from 9:30 to 5.

ABBOT LOW MOFFATT

Abbot and Byron

Democrat for Township Committee

A public servant whose life's work has been devoted to state, federal and local government service, Abbot Low Moffatt is a recognized authority on municipal finance and public administration. When Moffatt, Chairman of the New York State Assembly's Ways and Means Committee, resigned after 15 years of legislative service to enter the State Department, New York's "Daily News" commented: "He contributed most to the program that stopped the budget rise and turned it downward...and finally put the state in the black. Let us not fool ourselves; Moffatt was a Godsend to New York State in time of need..."

Abbot has made the same kind of contribution to Princeton in his first term of office. In 1974, he developed a new executive budget for the Township with an explanatory statement that was hailed as a model of its kind by the New Jersey Taxpayer's Association. Under his direction, Committee also adopted a six year capital budget program which, for the first time, permits Princeton to plan for its future needs. He is most responsible for our progress in constructing new bikeways and planning their future development.

Abbot has held important economic and political posts in the U.S. State Department and in the World Bank. He was Deputy Chief of the Marshall Plan Mission in London and Chief of our assistance missions in Burma and Ghana. He is a graduate of Harvard and Columbia Law School. He resides with his wife, Marion, at 2 Pheasant Hill Road.

STOP SMOKING FOREVER

In Hospital-Sponsored Plan. Even heavy smokers will abandon their cigarettes in five days, and with a minimum of discomfort, if they enroll in a special program co-sponsored by The Medical Center at Princeton.

Developed by the Better Living Center, a community service of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, the "5-Day Smoker's Plan" has helped millions of people around the world stop smoking since it was initiated 12 years ago. Offered once before by The Medical Center, the plan drew enthusiastic response.

GALLOPING GOURMETS: Princeton Hadassah members Mrs. Hazel Stix (dessert hostess), Mrs. Harriet Fein (co-chairman) and Mrs. Florence Nathan (president) plan gourmet dinner menus for Saturday's moveable feast.

News Of

Clubs and Organizations

Princeton Hadassah will hold a Gourmet Dinner Saturday, October 18, a progressive feast with cocktails, dinner, and dessert at successive homes.

The evening will begin with cocktails at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Gips, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gordon, and Dr. and Mrs. Jan Safer. Main courses will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Agin, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carchman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edelman, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Edelman, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Ellerstein, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Etz, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kruskal, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Panitz, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz (who have promised a genuine Indian meal if there is sufficient demand), Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ruben and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Solomon.

Desserts will be set forth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stix, where all participants will gather for the evening. Cost for the fare is $40 per couple, to benefit the Hadassah Medical Organization, the largest medical complex in the Middle East serving Jews and Arabs alike.

Reservations for the dinner, whose attendance is limited, are being accepted now. Inquiries may be directed to Mrs. Harriet Fein, 43 White Pine Lane, who, with Mrs.

Alice Gerb, is in charge of plans for the event.

The Smith College Club is planning to hold a pre-Christmas Pecan Sale to raise funds which will contribute toward scholarships for qualified students from the Princeton area who wish to attend Smith College. This event will replace the annual Smith Club Auction which raised funds for this purpose for over 25 years.

The fresh Georgia pecan halves will be available for distribution by members in late October in time for holiday baking, freezing or for unusual Christmas gifts. A recipe sheet of pecan specialties will be included with each order.

For further information about placing orders for the pecans, call Adrienne Snyderman, 921-7955, or Rosemary Haggios, 466-0627.

The Women's College Club, an organization of women college graduates living in the Princeton area, is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year. The club meets on the third Monday of each month at All Saints Chapel, Van Dyke Road. Nathaniel Burt, author of the new book, "The History of American Art Museums," will be the guest speaker at the October 20 meeting.

Members are invited also to participate in special interest groups, such as art, bridge, current book review, French conversation and reading, handicrafts, the Tuesday study group and evening potpourri, a new group. The Tuesday study group has chosen Alexandr Sozhenitsyn and Lady Nurasaki as its October subjects. The book review group will meet Thursday with Mrs. Robert Rock, assistant director of the Public Library, who will review several books suggested by the Bicentennial. The art group will visit the Bernard Barenholz Toy and Folk Museum in October.

The Women's College Club sponsors scholarship awards and a memorial educational loan fund. Mrs. Richard S. Crandall is President, and Mrs. Richard Cobb is chairman of the membership committee.

The West Windsor Republican Club will hold its Autumn Dinner Dance on Saturday, October 4, at the newly-decorated Princeton Junction Firehouse on Alexander Road. The price of $11 per person includes cocktails at 6:30, family style roast beef dinner at 7:30 and dancing until 1.

The presentation of the "Republican of the Year" award and door prizes will round out the festivities. The public may purchase tickets from any club member or by calling 799-0116.

The club will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, at 8 at the Dutch Neck Firehouse on South Mill Road. The public is invited to meet Jack Baer and Committeeman Ray Lockhart, Republican candidates for Township Committee.

The Princeton Regional Parent Teachers Organization is holding three dates for its annual Back to School Nights.

Parents of elementary school children were scheduled to visit Community Park and Johnson Park Schools Wednesday at 8, and Littlebrook and Riverside Schools at 7:30. Parents of Middle School students may visit on Monday at 7:30, and parents of high schoolers may visit on Monday, October 6, at 8.

On those evenings parents will have the opportunity to visit classrooms and meet the teachers. Teachers will discuss their programs and show texts and materials they will be using.

As a fund raiser for its BPW Louise Maas Nursing Scholarship Fund, the Business and Professional Women's Club is sponsoring a Fall Mini-Vacation to Boothbay Harbor, Maine, departing Princeton on Friday and returning on Monday. A few seats may be available on the bus. Those interested in knowing more about this trip, and those who would like to be on a mailing list for a similar trip in 1976, should call Mary Applegate, 924-0227, evenings.

VOLUNTEERS.....

Princeton Day Care Center

You Can Be One Too!

Medical Center at Princeton

The image of the volunteer as a gracious female with noblesse oblige in every kid-gloved finger hasn't been a true one for a long time, even in Princeton.

Volunteers today are men and women, teens and retired people, affluent and not-so-affluent, expert and not-so-expert. You can find, in the greater Princeton area, some 60 organizations and agencies with a variety of things to contribute to the community. They need you.

Even if you can only give time on a short-run basis, they will welcome you. Lots of agencies need only a single job. For example, the demand for professional accountants is heavy --- and desperate. If you're an accountant, you might spend just a few weeks helping an agency get its books in order and showing the staff how to keep them. (Call the Council of Community Services, 924-5865, and they'll tell you who needs you most.)

Or, you might keep in touch with Recording for the Blind, particularly if you have a special intellectual skill, like higher mathematics or an esoteric language. Often there is sudden need for someone to read a text.

Like to drive? The Red Cross can use you to drive patients to a clinic. Meals on Wheels needs somebody to stay behind the wheel while the meal is being delivered. Community (Child) Guidance needs drivers to transport children.

Maybe you're good at holding a small hand. The East Windsor-Hightstown Better Beginnings Day Care Center says safety regulations in state parks require almost one-to-one care of toddlers on field trips, and there are rarely enough chaperones to go around. This Center always needs people who have the rare gift of knowing how to get along with two-to-five-year olds.

Any of these day care centers --- the Princeton Nursery School, the University-NOW Day Nursery and the Princeton Day Care Center --- welcome people with music to bring. Take your guitar and play for the kids to sing by.

Men volunteers? Of course. Many a man has found it rewarding to be a Big Brother, giving a fatherless boy a positive male image to look up to. Or you could be an industrial counsellor at the Jamesburg Training School for Boys, or take a group of boys at the Skillman Training School on a tour of a research lab. You could be a volunteer at the Princeton Medical Center.

But don't hold back just because you don't speak Urdu, can't drive and have never had much luck with kids. Office help is needed by many groups, including the Youth Employment Service, the Princeton Historical Society, day-care centers, the YM and YW and even the Council of Community Services itself.

Meals on Wheels

Telephone Reassurance

The green-covered brochure, "Volunteer Opportunities," published by the Council of Community Services, lists all the agencies and organizations, what their needs are and whom to call when you want to volunteer. You can pick up a copy at the Council's office, 221 Witherspoon Street, or in any of the public libraries in the area.

Here's a football oddity ... Of all the men who hold the major all-time National Football League records, none was able to win the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player in the nation when they were in college ... For example, Jim Brown holds the all-time NFL career record for most yards gained rushing; John Unitas holds the career record for throwing the most completed passes; George Blanda for most points scored; Don Maynard for most passes caught ... And none of those men won the Heisman.

When New York's Yankee Stadium was built in the 1920s, it cost about 2-million dollars - but now New York City is paying about 57-million dollars just to remodel the stadium ... And interestingly enough, the plumbing bill alone in the remodeling is about two-and-a-half million dollars, or more than the whole stadium cost originally.

Did you know that there was once a football game called the "Confusion Bowl" by sports writers? ... It happened when Miami played Miami! ... That was Miami of Florida meeting Miami of Ohio ... They played against each other in both 1945 and 1946.

Princeton Faces Tough Opener against Rutgers Here Saturday; Victory Likely If Promising Backfield Can Live Up to Potential

Princeton University's plan to regain respectability in eastern football rankings will be severely tested Saturday when the Tigers unveil their 1975 team in the first game of the season against Rutgers. A 1:30 kickoff is scheduled for the Palmer Stadium contest, the 66th in the nation's oldest rivalry which finds the Orange and Black leading with 52 victories to 12 defeats and last year's 6-6 tie.

On a basis of spring practice, its 47-3 victory over Bucknell last week and personnel that is big and generally skilled, Rutgers has been widely installed as the favorite. The Scarlet went on from its game here last fall to win seven of 10, and some of its players think they are good enough this season to finish undefeated.

Indications are that a considerably larger number of points than last year's scant touchdown apiece will be posted on the board by the end of the fourth quarter. Each team appears better equipped offensively, each is concerned about defensive problems.

the inexperience there with quarterback Ron Beible's passing and the potential breakaway running of Bob Reid, Mike Carter and Bobby Isom, the Tigers may upset the Scarlet applecart.

Expectations are that the visitors will have an established professional at quarterback. Matt Allison, the junior who steered his team to victory over Bucknell, was a pitcher in the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system before entering college, but may play football as an amateur, even though he has been paid to play baseball. There is a possibility that Bert Kosup, last year's no. 1 quarterback, may also play but he has been sidelined with a muscle pull. Co-captain Curt Edwards, a 200-lb. fullback, Keith Davis and Mike Fisher, a pair of sophomores, are Rutgers' principal ball carriers. The kicking specialist is senior Bill Bradley, who can be effective with field goals from as far as 40 yards out. Despite an improved Princeton defense, odds are that Rutgers will score considerably more than the six points it managed a year ago.

If each defense is a bit suspect, Princeton will place a promising backfield on the line as its chief bid for its first victory in the traditional series in the last three games. Beible is Casciola's quarterback--both came to the varsity scene in the same season, and their philosophy in play selection is as one. The veteran Tiger field general should have a distinct edge over both Allison or Kosup, if the latter plays.

There is reason to believe, too, that the edge will go to Princeton in running backs. Reid, who won the fullback assignment midway through his sophomore year, averaged 4.9 yards a carry last season and is a solid threat through the middle. He has a capable backup in junior Art Walker.

graduation the keystone of any defensive platoon--its tackles. Captain Tom Schalch and Dale Spiegel were both members of the Class of 1975, and saw a major share of the action there throughout the season. Quantity to replace them is at hand; whether quality develops is possibly the biggest question mark to which Princeton hopes for an affirmative answer.

The Tigers will also be without a key linebacker, junior Steve Lang, a true star in the making who will be out until mid-October with an ankle injury. They can, however, start nine lettermen on defense, the exceptions being Paul McKeon, a classmate of Lang's who will move into his slot, and Gunars Dreifus, another junior who will play strong safety. Both saw mostly Varsity B football action in 1974.

Visitors Are Good. Rutgers, coached by one of its top all-time quarterbacks, Frank Burns, who directed the Scarlet to a victory over the Tigers at New Brunswick in the late '40s, has numerous holdover lettermen on offense, an unusually big and capable front defensive line and will worry about its deep secondary as its possible Achilles Heel. If Princeton can exploit OFFENSE: Steady, rather than brilliant, built around capable quarterback and good runners, but lacking standout performers. Should score well against rebuilding Princeton defense.

DEFENSE: Extremely solid up front -- front four averages nearly 230 and is highly-respected. Weakness may be inexperienced secondary.

CHIEF THREAT: Stems from large number of good players who have ability to produce team effort resulting in 60 minutes of good football.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Extent to which defensive secondary can contain best Princeton backfield of current decade.

here is that another junior, Mike Carter, may be the ball carrier whose name will make the headlines when the day is done. As Walt Snickenberger's successor, he has shown both strength and speed, and his fine work in handling kick returns while understudying Snick last fall equips him with unusual broken field skill.

Sophomore Bobby Isom, another fleet runner who is also adept at pass receiving, is Carter's replacement. This quartet gives Casciola more depth than is usual at Princeton, and should help keep the offense fresh as the game progresses.

Beible's passing will be enhanced by a number of veteran receivers—headed by Neil Chamberlin at flanker back, a player whose fingertip catches are almost the rule and not the exception. Gone from the picture is split end Kevin Gropp, who broke his wrist in Friday's scrimmage with Morgan State and is lost for six weeks. He was the team's leading receiver in 1974 with 23.

Taking over for him will be junior Dan Fournier, good enough to win his letter a year ago. Like Chamberlin, he is a major threat on deep passes thrown to a moving target. Add Reid, Carter and Isom to this pair, and Beible can be sure of completing a great majority of aeriels that are on target.

Punting Job In Doubt. Princeton's punting ability will remain a question mark until it is established, because none of those available to Casciola has much previous experience. Ed Kuchar handled the assignment in the Morgan State scrimmage, and may get the call Saturday. Mark Skof, Ted Schiller and Scott Morrison are other possibilities.

Morrison will handle the placements, and appears ready. Against Morgan State, he kicked a 34-yard field goal, saw it nullified by a motion penalty and promptly booted another from five yards farther back.

Of all the games the eight Ivy colleges will play Saturday, the Tigers will have the toughest opening day opponent. Rutgers has experience, size, depth and ability, appearing to lack only a standout quarterback and a strong secondary defense to keep it from ranking with the top eastern independents, after Penn State, Boston College, Pittsburgh and Temple.

In the face of such opposition, strengthened by spring practice and an opening game, Princeton is the logical pre-game underdog. Belief here is that an adequate defense and the best backfield the Tigers have had since they tied for the Ivy title six years ago will bring them out a winner.

TOURNAMENTS WON

In Springdale Golf, Jack Petrone won the President's Cup and Dick Liebler the Seniors' Tournament in matches held last weekend at Springdale Golf Club.

Petrone triumphed over Jack Mudge, 1 up, in the finals of the President's Cup. In his semi-final match, he was a 4-and-3 victor over Eddie Donovan, while Mudge reached the finals with a 5-and-3 decision over Don Shaw. Petrone succeeds Harold Crane as the cup-holder, Crane having been eliminated in first-round play by Mudge.

Liebler's 36-hole net of 168 for 36 holes was good enough to win the Senior Men's title by a stroke. He edged out three runners-up: Karl Pettit, Jr., last year's champion; Woody Wirsig and Sol Davidson.

Using full handicaps, Jack Childress at 15 won the 55-59 Division with a 174-30-144. Liebler's net 144 with a 12

Solution at Hand This Year for Goal Posts Torn Down Last Year Before Game Ended

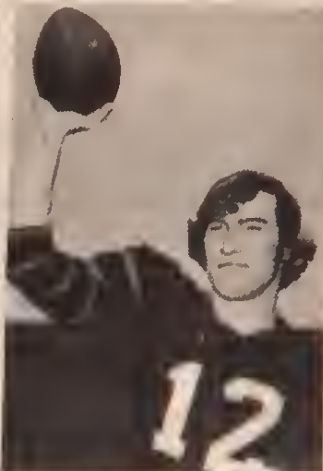

One of the few changes in the 1975 football rules book is there as a result of the unprecedented incident which marred last year's Rutgers-Princeton football game. During the fourth quarter, fans from the visitors' side of the field tore down both sets of goal posts without waiting to see whether the Scarlet could make its 6-0 lead stand up to the end.

It could not, but after Walt Snickenberger got the Tigers even with a shot across the goal line from a yard out, the officials refused to wait until a second set of posts could be erected. Forced to go for a two-point conversion, the Tigers saw it fail when Ron Beible's lead pass barely missed Bob Harding's outstretched fingertips.

Now, every home team is required to have a set of posts ready (as Princeton did then and will on Saturday) and the officials are required to delay the action until they are in place.

A year ago, no effort by Stadium security personnel was made to stop demolition of the posts, and none will be this year—in the event Rutgers fans try it again. Princeton does not wish to precipitate a pitched battle of the sort that occurred at Franklin Field in 1946, when Philadelphia police swung nightsticks against Princeton undergraduates tearing down the posts in celebration of the astonishing 17-14 upset—after the game was over.

In the unlikely event that both sets of posts go down again this year while the game is still in progress, belief is that fans interested in fair play would form a protective ring around replacements posts until the clock runs out.

TWO-YEAR VETERAN: Quarterback Ron Beible will direct Princeton's attack for a third season.

handicap took the championship in the 60-64 Division.

Barry Foster shot a net 156 with a 23 handicap to finish first in the 65-69 bracket. The winner among those 70-74 was B.E. Bergesen, whose 74 for 18 holes was declared the best score when rain fell Sunday afternoon.

Walter Roberts retained his title for those 75 and over, shooting a gross of 100-109-209. Roberts, 81, needed only to play to win—he had no competition.

PLAY STARTS SATURDAY

For New Soccer Club. The newly-formed Princeton Soccer Club will meet for the first time this Saturday at 8:30 at the Valley Road soccer fields off Witherspoon Street.

Unanswered Question

In the days when Princeton could book a scrimmage opponent whose potential was relatively easy to estimate (such as Army or Connecticut), it generally knew how to evaluate its own performance by the end of the afternoon. But what does it mean when the Tigers run over Morgan State, 31 to 7?

The small college from Baltimore brought some big, hard-hitting players to Palmer Stadium for a practice session Friday, yet seemed to lack both a capable offense and a defensive platoon that could do much to withstand the efforts of Ron Beible, Bob Reid and particularly Mike Carter. The junior halfback ripped through the visitors for several spectacular gains which totalled 160 yards and two touchdowns.

It was welcome contact under game conditions and will prove of value when the Tigers face Rutgers Saturday. No one, however, is really sure just what 31-7 against Morgan State means.

Don't Drink at Game

Princeton University announced this week that use of alcoholic beverages at the Rutgers game Saturday will be prohibited.

Adele Simmons, Dean of Student Affairs, said that the existing rule banning alcoholic beverages at athletic events will be strictly enforced "because of difficulties at past games" between these two universities.

PHS Hopes to Repeat 1974 Upset of Hamilton When New Football Season Opens on Saturday

The Princeton High School football team will open its season Saturday morning at 11 against visiting— and favored— Hamilton, hoping that lightning can strike twice.

Last September at Hamilton, PHS shocked an ever more favored Hamilton team, 34-12, in the opener for both schools. The Little Tigers were coached by Jim Beachell, who made his debut as head coach a memorable one.

"We'll be ready," said Beachell, who added that he was not making "any fantastic promises" about the outcome. "If the defense can do the job and if our team depth holds up, I think we'll be right in the game."

"As far as I can see, it won't be a runaway game either way. We'll take advantage of the first weakness we can find," Beachell concluded. "I'm looking forward to a good game and I think the kids are too."

Last year, Beachell felt the Hornets' secondary was vulnerable. A long pass in the first series set up Princeton's first touchdown and the Blue and White scored twice more on passes of 67 and 36 yards before the stunned home team was able to get on the board.

This year, with Pete Watson gone, Princeton's air game has been slow in coming around. So if Beachell has any surprises in store for the Hornets, it will have to come from some other direction. Beachell said that both teams had scouted each other once during pre-season scrimmages.

"WE'LL BE READY": PHS coach Jim Beachell promises that his Little Tigers will be ready when they open their football season Saturday morning at 11 against visiting Hamilton. He predicts a close game.

Starters Still Probable. A few days before the opener, Beachell had a number of positions that had not been firmly decided. The one exception in the backfield is fullback, where Eric Ziolkowski seems headed, barring injuries, for a stand-out year.

Tommy Thomas and Scott Thompson are the two quarterbacks contenders. Thomas having the more experience. At tailback, Tony Strong will probably start, backed up by Ken Bullock. Both are fast and provide PHS with a strong outside threat. Veteran Paul Soderman and Robbie McPherson are vying for the starting swing back position, Soderman having the edge.

Three firm starters on the line are center Nate Harris, tackle Craig Rendall and tight end Dan Schulman. The guards will be picked from Dave Seagers, Jim O'Grady and Mike Long, the other tackle between Anthony Cirullo and Jim Lennon and the wide receiver between Dave Lacy and Felix Brown. Lacy has the edge in experience.

They will have to contend with a new wrinkle that Hamilton coach Bill McEvoy had added this year. Believing that he has the backs than can do it, McEvoy has switched to the wishbone offense. After the setback to PHS last year, Hamilton never was able to regroup and fell to a 2-7 record.

In the backfield for Hamilton will be senior Fred Harris (4 TDs last year), junior speedster Mike Griffiths and hard-running Rich Ashley. Carl Johnson or Sammy Davis will run the team.

Gary Walz, a 6-4, 235-pound tackle, heads a line that has some experience. Hamilton has a big edge over PHS in numbers and will two-plateau as much as possible. Lack of depth has been listed as Princeton High's most potential weakness by Beachell, who believes ability to fight off fatigue in the final period will determine to a large extent how the Little Tigers will fare this season.

No Trouble with Option. As for Hamilton's switch to the wishbone, Beachell does not seem concerned. "We haven't had much trouble with an option team yet," he said.

"To be a really good option team, you have to be well-balanced and be able to throw the ball. That doesn't mean we won't have trouble if we meet a well-balanced team..." Beachell left the impression that he believes Hamilton will need a few games to smooth out the rough spots.

After a final tuneup scrimmage Saturday against Freehold, one which PHS dominated, Beachell reported that the team still has a few rough spots of its own. The passing and the linebacking still need to be shored up, he said. "We have so many things to do and so little time to get them done."

But the running game continues to come along with Ziolkowski up the middle and Strong and Bullock outside. The offensive line is also coming up now, Beachell said, led by Harris and Rendall. And the defense, although "fairly young" did quite well.

"We've got the speed and the blocking" summed up Beachell. The opener promises to be a hard-fought struggle, then, between two fine running teams.

The Schedule. What are the chances of PHS improving on last year's 4-5 record? Faced with a thin squad that could be crippled by a few key injuries, Beachell declines to predict.

"Come out and see us play and judge for yourself," he says.

What are the chances of PHS winning the league crown? Less than last year, because the league format has changed again and will change again next year.

Last year, there was a two tier structure in the Mercer County League in which the smaller teams such as Lawrence, St. Anthony's and Hightstown, including PHS, were in the Group B Division. Trenton, Hamilton, Steinert and so on were in Group A.

This season, the League reverted to one group again and because Hightstown and Lawrence failed to apply, only seven teams are eligible to win the Mercer title: Hamilton, Trenton, Steinert, Ewing, Notre Dame, St. Anthony and PHS.

Next season, PHS, together with West Windsor, Lawrence, Hightstown and others are scheduled to form their own, as yet unnamed, league. For this season, however, Beachell says it will be extremely difficult for PHS to go against schools with obviously superior depth such as Ewing, Steinert and Trenton.

Following the opener against Hamilton, here is a quick look at Princeton's remaining games.

Ewing: Lost 26-14 to PHS last year but inflicted so many injuries to Little Tigers in a bruising battle that PHS dropped next five in a row. Ewing also had a five-game losing streak in compiling 3-6 mark. Ken Hoagland is the best runner and Blue Devils are solid at tackle with 270-pound Scott Allen and veteran Art Miccio, 6-2, 210.

Lawrence: Although the Cardinals lost their fine quarterback Scott Brunner, Beachell reports they have their line back. "They'll be good again," he said. Dino Bottoni and Tim Ferguson are outstanding linemen.

Hightstown: The Rams were 7-2 last year, including a 24-0 shutout of PHS, largely on the speed of Dana Shelton and Brian Ishman. Shelton rushed for over 1,400 yards - a Mercer County record - and scored 19 TDs, setting a school mark. He rushed for 196 yards and 3 TDs against PHS. Both are back.

West Windsor: "A dark horse," claims Beachell, pointing out that the Pirates have been playing together as a team for three years. Two schools will be meeting for the first time.

St. Anthony's: One of those game that PHS should have won last year but lost, 13-7. Iron Mikes finished with one of their best seasons ever at 5-4 and welcome back quarterback Mark Slafkowsky among 14 returning lettermen. Good offensive line to complement backfield but weakness is inexperienced defensive line.

Steinert: The Spartans were 6-3 last year and 4-0 against county foes but are not expected to be as strong this year. Beachell thinks Princeton area youngsters who wish to compete in the 15th annual Punt, Pass & Kick competition sponsored across the nation by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League, can register at Nassau-Conover Motor Company, Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road.

Those 8 through 13 are eligible and must be accompanied by a parent or guardian when registering. There is no entrance fee and no body contact. No special equipment is needed. Entrants compete only against others their own age.

otherwise and feels they have a "chance to win everything." Matt Lamerding set at quarterback but rest of backfield is uncertain. Big asset is depth coach Pete Brescia can draw upon.

Notre Dame: It's hard to believe an Al Verdel-coached team failed to win but the Irish last fall lost all nine of their games, yielding 344 points while scoring only 40. Beachell, along with all other observers, says the Irish "can't help but get better." Best returning is George Mattonelli, who ran for three scores and passed for two last year.

Trenton: Aside from the Hamilton win, Princeton's 27-0 victory over Trenton last year was its most satisfying. The Little Tigers will be hard pressed to repeat.

Trenton is packed as the team to win the championship. Beachell concurs with those who say Tornado quarterback Bruce Evans is the best around. "He can throw and he can run," said Beachell, who also noted that Trenton had an undefeated sophomore team. Trenton has speed, experience, depth and a solid line. Beachell picks Trenton and Steinert to battle it out for the championship.

As for PHS, he looked at the schedule and remarked, "They are no breathers for us."

HUN VS. NEWARK

In Football Opener. The Hun School football team will open its season away Saturday at 1:30 when it opposes Newark Academy.

"I heard they have a few big kids and they're always competitive," said Hun coach Dave Leete, commenting on Newark. Hun defeated Newark last year in its opener on its way to a 5-3 season.

Leete sees the opener as a "difficult" game but one that Hun has a good chance of winning -- if. "If our offense gets untracked and our passing improves a little, we should do okay," Leete said, adding "and if our defense continues to play the way it has."

Starting for Hun in the backfield will be Nick Brady at quarterback; Ernie Barbiero, fullback; Greg Pabers and Terry McEwen, running backs. McEwen gained more than 1,000 yards last year and is Hun's principal offensive threat.

Ends will be Larry Gebert and Tom Summers, the guards Tom Kennedy and Sam Ammirata, and Ted Ruckstuhl, center. Bob Cronin will be at one of the tackle slots while Nick Scozzari, Scott Smith and David Gering are competing for the other. Pabers, Gebert, Kennedy and Ruckstuhl are all newcomers to Hun this year.

After three pre-season scrimmages, Leete reported that overall the team did not look too bad. "The defense is pretty solid," he said, "and the offense has some bright spots, but we still need more offensive line blocking."

Two who have done well in scrimmages in addition to the veterans, Leete reported, are Vince Taylor, a sophomore running back from Kentucky, and Tim Teel, a junior linebacker.

Leete also received some good news and bad news as far as injuries are concerned.

Keith MacEwan, a guard and defensive tackle, broke his finger and will be lost for a couple of weeks, but this was offset by the good news that Barbiero, on whom the Hun straight-ahead offense is so dependent, is ready to go. Barbiero sustained a broken nose at the start of practice but, Leete said, the break was not a severe one and the nose does not have to be reset.

TOUGH OPENER AHEAD

For West Windsor Eleven. "We drew a tough one," agreed West Windsor football coach Rex Walker whose Pirates will meet Lawrence High School Saturday at 1:30 on the Cardinals' gridiron.

Lawrence, one of the top teams in the area the past few years, won seven of nine last fall. In contrast, West Windsor is a young team. Very young historically, since last year was its first full varsity season. It won two, tied one and lost six.

Walker expects Lawrence to be "the team to beat again this year. They have a couple of holes to fill but they have a very experienced line and seem ready to go."

"I'm sure our kids will get up for the game," Walker said. He commented that he felt it was probably better to start off with a tough one "right off the bat" to see what you have.

Can't Make Mistakes. "We'll be out to win it. We'll have to play an extremely fine game. We can't make any mistakes. To win, we're going to have to put points on the board and hope the defense comes through."

"I think we've got a shot at .500," Walker continued, commenting on his team's prospects for the season. "Of course you always want to win them all, but to be realistic I think .500 is closer to what we can hope for."

Tempering Walker's expectations is a schedule that is a lot stronger than last year. Included among this fall's nine opponents are Princeton High School, Notre Dame, St. Anthony's, Hightstown and North Brunswick.

In Walker's favor is the experience his team has had playing as a unit. Because West Windsor will not graduate its first senior class until June, he lost no one through graduation. But he did lose, unexpectedly, five starters through attrition when two went out for another sport, two decided not to come out and one moved away.

Pherson will start at quarterback against Lawrence, Tom Murphy will be the fullback, John Martin, Ronnie Hutchinson and Rudy Zellnitz, the running backs.

Starting linemen will be Dave Duncan, split end; Bill Schroeder, tight end; Rick Malacrea, center; Jay Denfield and George Noble, guards; and Alex Drummond and Rich Holcombe, tackles.

Starters on defense will include Ken Brzezynski, middle guard; Ron Matlush, linebacker; Rick Hawkins, end; Chris Holcombe, tackle; Scot Peet, cornerback; and Dave Watson, safety.

Off four scrimmages, Walker reported that the team's offense has been slow getting started. "We're not moving the ball; the rhythm and execution aren't there yet."

The defense is ahead of last year but again there is still a lot of work that has to be done. There's been improvement but there has to be," said Walker, who pointed out that the Pirates gave up an average of 32 to 38 points a game.

In spite of all the impediments, Walker said that he was looking forward to the new season. "We have a little better team and we have a lot to make up for for last season."

PDS IS 22-3 VICTOR

Plays Englewood Saturday. The Princeton Day School football team avenged an opening loss to Chestnut Hill Academy last year when it defeated the same club here Friday, 22-3. Billy Martin, the Panthers' heralded tailback, scored two of his team's three touchdowns and rushed for 110 yards in 31 carries.

It is one up now and six to go for John Boneparth's blue and white team, which is aiming for third consecutive NJSIAA Class B prep school state championship. PDS will try for victory number two Saturday when it travels to Englewood for a 1:30 contest with Dwight-Englewood School.

The latter won its first game last week, blanking Morristown-Beard School, 14-0. Englewood, commented Boneparth, "has good size, a strong passing game and executes very well."

Martin opened the scoring in the first period when he caught a 46-yard pass from quarterback Bill Baggitt and made it 8-0 by running over the conversion. The visitors cut the deficit to 8-3 at half-time, however, when they converted a 39-yard field goal attempt.

63-yard Drive. The turning point, in Boneparth's opinion, came at the start of the third period. PDS took the kickoff and drove 69 yards in 17 plays, halfback Bob Olsson banging over from the one. Just as important, noted Boneparth, "we ate up eight minutes on the clock." Baggitt's two-point conversion gave the Panthers a 16-3 margin.

Martin's one-yard plunge in the final period ended the scoring. Olsson, a sophomore, gained 40 yards in 13 carries;

Hole-in-One Contest

The annual Hole-In-One Contest sponsored by the Princeton Policemen's Benevolent Association 130 will be held Sunday, October 5, from 10 to 6 at the Springdale Club practice range, lower Springdale Road.

Proceeds are used to sponsor youth programs in the area. It is $1 for two shots.

First prize is a color television set and numerous other prizes will be awarded.

halfback Mark Blaxill had 20 yards in 10 and Baggitt 12 in three. Baggitt, who called his own game after coming off a year's absence because of an injury, was 2-for-5 in passing and 56 yards.

"The defense was particularly strong," commented Boneparth, in saying he was played with his team's performance. He cited defensive tackle Dave Mottley, cornerback Steve Judge and defensive end Jeff Burns for their play.

So effective were the Panthers in bottling up Chestnut Hill, the visitors never threatened to score a

TD. Further indication of PDS's dominance was its possession of the ball for 63 plays compared to 35 for Chestnut Hill.

The offense made some mistakes, Boneparth said, "but the majority were mental errors that didn't hurt us, not errors of execution."

LIGHT WINDS PREVAIL

For Carnegie Sailing. Thirteen sailors donned rain gear to race on Lake Carnegie Sunday. Only one other boat beside Carnegie Sailing Club members braved the weather, but just before the first race, the skies cleared.

The wind throughout the afternoon was light, sometimes a dead calm, giving the lighter weight sailors a definite advantage. The Sunfish and Laser classes had fine races each. The variable wind favored the old salts who could read the whereabouts of the light puffs on the water and were quick to tack when there was a favorable wind shift.

The Sunfish results Sunday were Bob Chapman, first; Dick Jessor, second and Bob Holzman, Jr., third. In the Lasers, John Henderson was first, Bill Conners, second, and Doug Boone third.
